NAVIGATING STORMY SEAS: achieving better outcomes for families in high conflict

A Professional Development event for Family Law professionals facilitated by Julie McCrossin (journalist and broadcaster), followed by dinner & entertainment by Professor Richard Chisholm
(former Family Court Judge).

WEDNESDAY 11TH MARCH 2009

Where: The Crystal Ballroom
Luna Park, Milsons Point, Sydney

When: 4pm - 9.30pm
Registration commences at 3.30pm

Whether in the capacity of Family Lawyer, Judicial Officer, Family Dispute Resolution Practitioner (FDRP), Counsellor, Family Consultant within the Court, Child Consultant, or Independent Children's Lawyer etc., Family Law professionals experience the challenges and complexities around working with separated couples in high conflict - often compounded by multiple issues - on a daily basis.

What goes on in your consultation room? What happens in another professionals' consultation room? How do you effectively manage complexities, both those your clients present with as well as those amongst various other practitioners who may be involved with the same case?

Questions will be explored by Julie McCrossin by means of a panel of five experts including Federal Magistrate Robin Sexton and significant audience input, followed by an interactive showcase of the issues and themes elicited from the discussion. There will be plenty of networking opportunities over dinner and drinks & entertainment will be provided by Professor Richard Chisholm.

Cost: $80

(employed at an FRSP-funded agency)

$120

(self-employed or non-FRSP funded)

*The NAVIGATING STORMY SEAS event is worth 2.5 CLE points for Family Lawyers.

Strictly Limited Places. RSVP by March 6th by returning the Registration Form. For further details about NAVIGATING STORMY SEAS, please contact Nicky Schor (GSFIT Project Officer) on gsfitprojectofficer@gmail.com or phone 0400 919 098
