

Image:

Pauline Floyd, 24, the youngest lawyer ever admitted to practice before the US Supreme Court, circa 1922, c/- www.theblogofrecord.com

Women In Law Commemorative Dinner

Each year, Macquarie University Law Society hosts a Commemorative Law Dinner with a prominent keynote speaker from the legal profession as the guest of honour. The event is focused on a topic of law or an issue of legal significance, explored through a keynote address.

This year, to honour the 20th anniversary of Sandra Day O'Connor's appointment to the US Supreme Court and the centenary of International Women's Day, students, alumni and friends of the Macquarie Law School are invited to celebrate "Women in Law". The keynote addresses will be made by the Hon. Justice Ruth McColl AO of the Supreme Court of NSW, Court of Appeal, and the Hon. Catherine Branson QC, President of the Australian Human Rights Commission.

Wednesday 4 May 2011

6.30pm for 7pm start

Parkroyal Hotel
Darling Harbour
150 Day Street, Sydney

Students and Staff - $66
Alumni - $80
General Public - $100

Tickets available at www.muls.org.
The evening will include a three course meal and drinks.

RSVP by 24 April 2011 to Aimee Riley at educationofficer@muls.org should you wish to book a table of 10 or more, or if you wish to make seating requests.