The Judicial Commission was established over 30 years ago to provide a program of education and training for judicial officers; to assist courts in New South Wales to achieve consistency in imposing sentences; and, to examine complaints against judicial officers. Mr. Schmitt will outline the work of the Commission and discuss programs that have been developed to assist the judiciary in its role. Many of the tools developed are of assistance to the legal profession including bench books which are available on the Commission's website.

This seminar has been organised by the NSW Bar Association's Education Committee.
