

NSW Bar Association Media Kit

The NSW Bar Association is a professional association for practising barristers and associate members, such as clerks and judges. We have more than 3,000 members across New South Wales.

We offer advertising opportunities through Bar News magazine, which is published three times a year, and InBrief, our daily email news bulletin. Advertising through our publications allows you to reach members of the NSW Bar and judiciary.

Advertising in Bar News

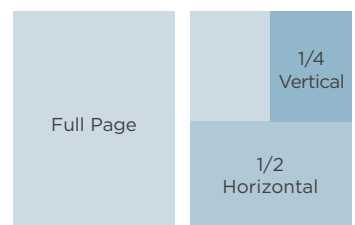

Bar News is the journal of the NSW Bar Association, written by the members, for the members. Each issue includes a mix of articles on recent cases, legal developments, notable speeches, appointments and retirements, reviews, social events and news. It is distributed in hard copy to Bar Association members and other legal professionals, and is also published online at bn.nswbar.asn.au.

Bar News is published three times a year in autumn (April/May), winter (July/August) and summer (November/December).

Advertising in InBrief

Published each weekday afternoon, InBrief is an industry e-bulletin that keeps members up to date with news, events and services relevant to the Bar and the general profession. A selection of news posts is emailed to members and other subscribers at 4pm. InBrief posts are also published online at nswbar.asn.au/inbrief.

InBrief welcomes advertisements relating to products, events or services which assist barristers with their practice or support the objectives of the NSW Bar Association.

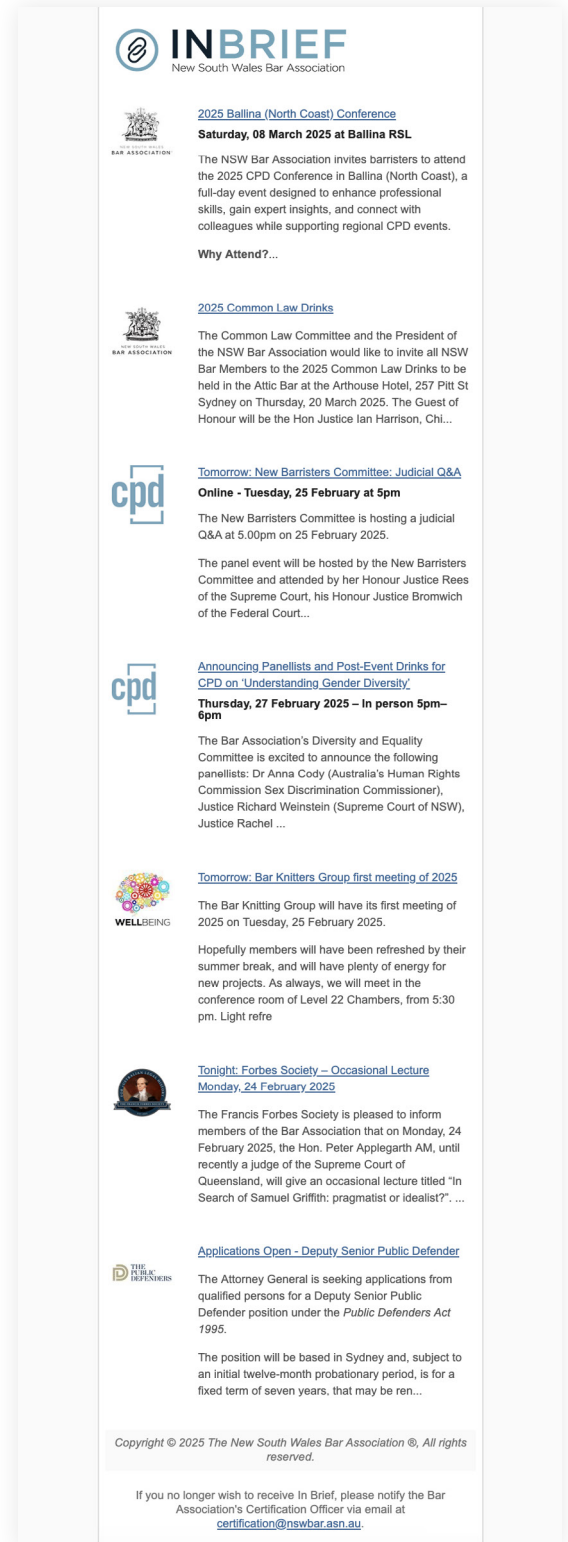

Cost (Includes GST)

$75 for each day that the advertisement is published.

Please note that:

- All advertising requests are subject to the approval of the association's Executive Director
- We cannot guarantee that advertisements will be published on a requested date (or dates) but will accommodate such requests where possible.
- An advertisement may run over multiple weeks, but no more than twice in the same week.
